How to Advocate for Your Child with Disabilities in the Juvenile Justice System

This workshop is for parents of children with disabilities who are at greater risk for entering the court system because of issues in school or in the community.

We will discuss the following topics:

- How youth with disabilities become involved in the juvenile justice system
- How to advocate when your child is arrested
- How to prepare your child for talking to police and appearing in court
- How to navigate the court system
- What special education rights your child has in a juvenile justice placement
- How to make the transition from a corrections setting to the community more successful

Monday, Dec. 7, 2009
7 to 9 p.m.
