Early Childhood Family Leadership Summit

Parents of children ages birth to seven with developmental delays or disabilities will learn how to make their voices heard and enhance their knowledge of the early childhood special education process.

Who should attend:

- Parents who currently serve or are interested in serving on Interagency Early Intervention Committees (IEICs), IEIC subcommittees, Special Education Advisory Councils (SEACs), or other advisory boards
- Parents who are interested in serving in a leadership capacity

Participants will:

- Have an opportunity to network with other parents
- Learn how to influence public policy, improve personal advocacy skills, and enhance leadership skills
- Learn about the role of serving on committees and boards
