Parents will learn their rights and how they can use their abilities to advocate for their child and work effectively with the school. This workshop will answer questions such as:

- What is the definition of “parent,” and who needs to and can be appointed as a surrogate parent?
- Why is it important that parents be involved?
- How can parents effectively work with the school?
- What do parents need to know about the special education process, and how do special education and regular education work together?
